O. E. MAY PROPOSE WAGE REDUCTION

Rumor Of Cut Not Affirmed Or Denied By Officials

MEN WANT SCALE RENEWED

Question Of Fare Involved If Pay Is Sliced

Lima officials of the Ohio Electric declined Thursday to deny or affirm a rumor current in the city that a wage reduction will be made on street car and interurban men with the expiration of the present contract, August 15.

Street car men have made application for a renewal for another year of the contract under which they are working, it is said.

If a wage cut is proposed, it probably will result in a many-angled affair, including the rate of fare on the Lima street car lines.

FARE IS EXTENDED

The city council a short time ago extended for another six months the temporary fare ordinance under which the company is charging a 7-cent cash fare or nine tickets for 50 cents. This was done with the understanding that any profits the company is able to make will go towards improvement of the lines, which are in a sad state in some respects.

The 7-cent fare was granted a year ago by council when it was represented by the company that it would be able to pay its men the scale the company considered they should have.

With the granting of the increase in fare the employees and the company readily came to an agreement. There is considerable discussion now concerning what steps will be taken if the company proposes a cut. It is pointed out that a number of street car companies through the state have reduced wages. In Dayton a fight is being made now, since the employees and employers have come to an agreement following a strike, to have the fare reduced. This matter has not been settled.

UNIONS ARE SILENT

Representatives of the unions here decline to discuss the matter in advance of the reply of the company to the proposal for a renewal of the contract. It is probable that a reply will be forthcoming in the near future and conference of employees and employers will follow.

Since the increased fare was allowed on city lines here the old Ohio Electric system has been dissolved. It is believed, however, that contracts will be made thru the same officials and will apply to the system as in the past.

GERMANY WINS IN TRADE RACE

Sells In South America While U. S. Goods Wait

CUTS THE PRICES IN HALF

Hoover Called To Buenos Aires For Investigation

BUENOS AIRES.—(By United Press.)—Germany is winning the race for South American trade. The customs house and surrounding yards here were stacked today with American-made goods valued at from $40,000,000 to $60,000,000.

Meanwhile the German ships, which arrived here with almost identical cargoes, saw their sold and cleared for Germany for more cargoes.

The German goods sold at one-half the price of the American product, because of the high cost of the United States dollar.

PUT UP TO HOOVER

The situation emphasized the jeopardy of American prospects here which led the United States Chamber of Commerce in Buenos Aires to urgently invite Secretary Hoover here for a personal investigation. Americans hoped that such a visit, while the Harding administration is still young, would result in the adoption of helpful measures.

While the most successful competition comes from the Germans, who benefit by the abnormal rates of exchange, English and Belgian goods are sold here while American made products lie useless, some of them rotting in storage.

AMERICAN GOODS REMAIN

Some of the American goods here have lain there since the first of the year. The customs house, with accommodations for about 1,033,399 tons of merchandise was filled long ago. American goods flowed into other warehouses and open yards.

Semi-perishable goods are spoiling, the loss reaching thousands of dollars.

At one time, 2,700 American automobiles lay in storage, while European makes were snapped up eagerly.

South American dealers have bought occasional consignments but have come back with the complaint that they sold at a loss, while goods from the land of the cheap mark made nice profits.

GOUSTING OF MAYOR IS DEMANDED

Newark Executive Is Accused Of Accepting Bribe

CASE PUT UP TO GOVERNOR

Law Enforcement League Charges Protection of Gamblers

COLUMBUS.—(By Associated Press.)—Removal of Mayor H. A. Atherton, of Newark, on a charge that he accepted a bribe to protect gambling, is asked in charges filed today with Governor Davis by the Law Enforcement League of Newark.

It is alleged that Mayor Atherton accepted money and promised protection to the gamblers, but that later the places were raided.

Governor Davis returned to his office today from a trip east. He has not yet taken action on the charge.

SEES NEWARK TERM

NEWARK, O.—The advice from Columbus that the Law Enforcement League had filed charges against Mayor Atherton was no great surprise here, as rumors to that effect had been in circulation for two days.

Mayor Atherton is the son of former Mayor Herbert Atherton, deceased. He has served two terms and is a candidate before the August primary for another term.

Mayor Atherton's father was mayor of Newark at the time of the lynching of Carl Etherington, Tennessee detective, arrested here for the shooting of a saloon keeper.

FRAME-UP CLAIMED

Charles O'Bannon, president of the Law Enforcement League, admitted this afternoon that charges had been filed with Governor Davis at Columbus against Mayor Atherton, charging him with accepting money from gamblers but he declined to state how many affidavits support his charge. He refused to discuss the matter.

Vice-President Lester Newkirk of the Law Enforcement organization said later that he did not know that charges had been filed and that he knew nothing of the alleged affidavits in the case.

Mayor Atherton this afternoon declared that the charges against him were a frame-up by gamblers because he enforced the law and had certain raids conducted. He says he was given an opportunity to resign and avoid publicity but decided to have the case heard.

"This is the first case I ever heard of," Mayor Atherton said this afternoon in denial of the charges. "where an effort was made to remove an official for enforcing the law."

He showed a copy of a letter which he has written to Governor Davis, asking for an opportunity to tell what had been done in the way of law enforcement here, before action is taken by the governor.

"These gamblers have all been arrested," the letter said, "some twice and three times, and fined for violation of the laws and if they have made such an affidavit, it is because they are framing a revenge upon me. I should very much like to have the privilege of showing you what we have accomplished here and I believe that you will want to know the facts in the case before you take any decisive steps in the matter."

Mayor Atherton said he retained Link Crussell as counsel.

EFFORTS TO TRACE EXECUTIVE FAIL

Leaves Chicago Supposedly For Home, Doesn't Arrive

NOT AT THE STATE CAPITAL

Wife Unable To Give Clue As To His Whereabouts

CHICAGO.—(By Associated Press.)—The whereabouts of Governor Small, indicted on charges of embezzlement of state funds while he was state treasurer, early today remained a matter of speculation.

Governor Small disappeared from public view last night after holding an all-day conference here with counsel. He could not be located in Chicago, Springfield or at his home at Kankakee, altho it had been thought that he intended to return to Kankakee.

MAY SURRENDER

With Sheriff Henry Mester, of Sangamon co., refusing to come to Chicago to arrest him, as the governor's friends suggested, those in touch with the case today presumed that the governor would submit to arrest when he returned to Springfield but the time of his return was indefinite.

Some attorneys discussing the case expressed the belief that Governor Small cannot escape trial on the charges if he is coaxed to do so, even tho he is not docketed for the reason that a conspiracy indictment covers the governor, Lieutenant Governor, Fred Sterling and Vernon Curtis and proceedings against Sterling and Curtis would be to all intents and purposes, be considered as proceedings against Governor Small as well.

FAMILIES FOUND STARVING

Salvation Army Head Pictures Unemployment Situation

NEW YORK.—(By Associated Press.)—Commander Evangeline Booth, head of the Salvation Army in the United States, says that the country is facing the worst winter industrially it has known in fifteen years.

"In New York city alone," she declared, "we are receiving an average of 800 registered applications a week for regular employment. That is less than one-third of the actual number applying, because we do not register the transient or unskilled men; nor does it include the hundreds who come to us daily for food and lodging."

Of the applicants, 31 were really professional men whose credentials entitled them to go on paying positions.

"Judging from the applications made to us more than 60 per cent of the applicants come from outside New York. Every time there is a business depression outside of New York many of those out of work come to New York. New York cannot take care of her own. Therefore, how can she take care of the thousands who flock here?"

"Most of the men who apply to us for relief are young men under forty, who are willing to work but there are no jobs for them. Last week we had 36 families to care for with little children who were actually starving. Eviction because the rent money was lacking was imminent for most of them."

SLEEPERS PEEVED

Town Clock Runs Riot At Midnight—Something Slips

The big clock in the tower of the court house struck Wednesday night it struck for several minutes, much to the annoyance of sleepers within the surrounding blocks.

When the faithful old timepiece started to toll the hour of midnight something went wrong. Instead of stopping when the proper number of strokes had been struck on its roaring gong, it continued.

One resident who had his slumbers broken thereby said he counted when the clock started to strike. It must have struck 100 times, he said.

It struck 24 a few night ago, at the same hour, he declared.

"Something must have slipped," was the only explanation given. The clock registered the correct time Thursday morning.

GOLF GAME IS CORRESPONDENT IN DIVORCE SUIT

NEWARK, N. Y.—(By Associated Press.)—The Ancient and Honorable game of golf is correspondent in a divorce suit by Mrs. Rachael B. Hayward, of Mont Clair, against Sterling Hayward.

In affidavits filed with Vice Chancellor Fielder yesterday, Mrs. Hayward declared the game took so much of her husband's leisure time that she scarcely ever saw him, that her lack of interest in golf caused him to be cruel to her and he spent money in pursuit of his hobby, that should be spent maintaining her and the two children.

Hayward denied golf is responsible for their marital difficulties, which he attributes to difficulties with Mrs. Hayward's relatives and to her discovery that he was not as wealthy as she believed.

SEES TROUBLE AT DUBLIN

Peculiar Turns Taking Place In The Irish Situation

LONDON.—(By Associated Press.)—Speculations and predictions regarding the Irish situation have been many recently, but as a result of developments featuring the negotiations during the past 24 hours.

Of these developments, perhaps the most talked of, is a speech made in the house of Lords by Lord Burkenhead, lord high chancellor, in which he invited parliament and the country to have patience with the trouble Eamon de Valera, Irish republican leader and his colleagues, may be having in Dublin to reach a decision on the British proposals. He also intimated that the negotiations may continue for several weeks.

Other outstanding features of the day were prolonged discussions of the proposal by the Irish republican cabinet: a communication Premier Lloyd George is reported to have received from de Valera; and the postponement of General Smuts' departure for South Africa.

Toledo Pigeon Flies 1,100 Miles In 120 Hours

TOLEDO.—(By Associated Press.)—What is said to be a new flying record for a three-year-old bird has just been turned in by a pigeon belonging to F. W. Lawrence of Toledo, member of the Buckeye Pigeon Club.

More than two weeks ago the pigeon, one of a dozen belonging to members of the local club, was shipped to Albino, Texas, a distance of 1,100 miles from Toledo. The bird left Albino at 5:15 a. m. In its second and third year this bird took part in 100, 200 and 300 mile races. Last year it flew against a guide wire and broke its breast bone, which makes the performance all the more remarkable.

SHIPPING BREAK IS THREATENED

Washington Sends Ultimatum to the English Lines

FAIR TREATMENT DEMANDED

Dispute Arises Over the Transport of Cotton

LONDON.—(By Associated Press.)—The United States shipping board, it was learned here today, has delivered an ultimatum to the British shipping lines that unless its ships are accorded fair treatment in contracts for the transport of cotton from Alexandria, Egypt, to the United Kingdom and the United States the shipping board will "declare an open market" and haul anything anywhere at any rate.

The board also will invoke the retaliatory measures embodied in the Jones shipping act, under which vessels owned by unfair competitors may be excluded from the United States ports the ultimatum declared.

WAGE DECISION

A London dispatch of Wednesday night quoted Central News agency from Alexandria as saying the representatives of the United States shipping board in Alexandria had decided to break off negotiations with Liverpool shipping interests regarding the shipping of Egyptian cotton, because of the methods used in securing contracts for shipping cotton from Alexandria.

The Americans intended to adopt protective measures, declaring intimidation had been used in competition for freight and alleging that discrimination in favor of British bidders had been exercised, even when American bids were materially lower than those of the British.

WAY CLEARED FOR ARMAMENT MEET

Jap Acceptance Completes Second Step To Conference

WASHINGTON.—(By Associated Press.)—The way was regarded as open today for the beginning of negotiations between the United States and the other principal allied and associated powers as to the date and the meeting place of the proposed conference on limitation of armaments.

Definite acceptance by Japan of a seat in the conference, announced in a note from Tokyo, made public today by the state department, completed the second step in the movement to secure limitation of armaments by agreement, the first step having been President Harding's informal overtures on the question.

Little difficulty is expected by officials here in the reaching of an agreement on the place for the meeting, the decided opposition has developed to the suggestion that the conference be held in Washington. Differences of opinion as to the time of the convening of the conference are known to exist, however, among the interested nations.

The American government has mentioned November 11, Armistice Day, because of its appropriateness in the occasion for the start of a state, completed the second step in the movement to secure limitation of armaments by agreement, the first step having been President Harding's informal overtures on the question.

Invitations to take part in the conference are expected to be sent out immediately upon agreement as to the date and place of meeting.

CITY OPENS FIGHT ON PHONE RATES

Utilities Board Orders Investigation of System Here

The affairs of the Lima Telephone company will be gone over by an engineer for the public utilities commission, it was announced at conclusion of a hearing on the company's application for increased rates, held before the commission in Columbus, Wednesday. From the report made, the commission will in part determine the question. The city will have an opportunity to show its side, however.

In the arguments for higher rates, D. J. Cable, attorney for the company, sought to show that an increase is justified because the earnings of the company are not sufficient to show a profit. On the basis of the first five months in 1921, a deficit of about $6,000 for the year is faced by the company, he said.

Solicitor H. E. Garling, on behalf of the city, in resisting the application of the company, claimed that dividends have been paid on both the common and preferred stock during the first half of the year. The city also sought to show that $7,000 was paid out for income tax on stock dividends. The commission does not recognize income tax, as paid by the Lima company, as an item of operating costs.

The telephone company sought by witnesses to show that service is good and that satisfaction is being given the patrons. This testimony was not disputed by the city.

Application made by the company asked for rate increases ranging from 25 cent to $1 a month. The commission was told that earnings are so low that it will be necessary to cut wages, if higher revenues are not secured. Neither rates nor wages underwent radical readjustment during the war, it was stated.

Final decision in the hearing was deferred until the report of the utilities engineer on the company's books and property is made. Solicitor H. E. Garling and George H. Quall, hired as assistant, represented the city and D. J. Cable was present at the hearing for the company.

RE-EXAMINATION OF VETS ASKED

War Risk Head Suggests Plan Of Soldier Relief

WASHINGTON—(By Associated Press).—Re-examination of the four and a half million former service men and elimination of statutory relief was suggested today by Charles Forbes, director of the war risk insurance bureau, as the best solution of the soldier relief problem.

Testifying before a senate committee, Colonel Forbes said the bureau still suffered from too much "affidavitism" and too little human interest and contact. Pending claims for compensation from more than two hundred thousand men when he took charge April 28, he said, had been reduced to between forty thousand and fifty thousand.

Colonel Forbes said applications for claims were coming in at the rate of nearly a thousand a day, largely mental and nervous cases and he saw no "peak" in prospect. Difficulties attendant on getting claims thru the bureau had caused a new class of "parasites" to spring up and that such persons were "robbing and bleeding the former service men faster than any shysters ever discovered before," Colonel Forbes said.

ARCH DEACON APPEALS HIS CASE TO THE PEOPLE

LONDON—John Wakeford, "the naughty arch," who was unfrocked as a clergyman, when found guilty of immorality, took his case to the people today.

Barred from a legal appeal since the highest church court in the land convicted him, Wakeford hoped to create a popular demand for a rehearing which would lead to his reinstatement in the church.

The arch-deacon will address a mass meeting tonight at Queenshall, renewing his charges that he was convicted on framed evidence. The strongest evidence he has to break down is that of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pugh, managers of the B. H. Inn at Peterborough, where the arch-deacon was said to have spent two days with a young woman he met at the famous Peterborough cathedral.

WIFE OF FORMER LIMA PASTOR TAKEN IN DEATH

Mrs. Sophia Schluter, 58, wife of the Rev. H. C. Schluter, former pastor of the First Reformed church, W. Waynes-st., died at her home in Baltimore, Md., Thursday morning, according to word received here. She had been in ill health for some months.

Surviving are three sons: Carl H. Schluter, 716 N. West-st., Emmanuel Schluter, Baltimore, Md.; Calvin Schluter, in the government service, and a daughter, Miss Marie Schluter, Baltimore.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

DETROIT TO BUILD WORLD'S LARGEST SPAN

DETROIT—If original plans of the promoters of the international bridge to Windsor are carried out, the Detroit river will be bridged by the longest and heaviest span in the world. Preliminary work on the bridge has been completed and permission for the work obtained from the Canadian parliament and the United States congress to proceed with the project which will cost, it is estimated, $30,000,000.

The span will be 1,805 feet long. There will be two roadways, each twenty-eight feet in width paved with concrete; two seven-foot sidewalks, also paved with concrete, and two trolley tracks.

STATE WILL GIVE AID TO NORMAL

Appropriation Increased As Combination Is Effected

The sum of $2,500 will be given by the state to the combined city-county normal school this year, according to a letter received by County superintendent of schools C. A. Arganbright, Thursday. This is an increase of $1,000 over last year's appropriation for the normal school.

Combining of the county and the city normal schools is made under a new law this year, passed by the General Assembly at the last session. Formerly county students wishing to attend the city normal school were required to pay tuition. Under the new plan the tuition will be free to students from both the county and the city.

The state has also appropriated $200 for library purposes for the normal school. The county school board will appropriate $500 and the city will make up the balance of the necessary funds.

The school will be conducted at Central High, as formerly. Miss Ilo Maddux, who taught the city normal for several years past, will retain her position as head of the new school. Another instructor will be engaged as an assistant, by the county.

Two instructors are required under the state law when $2,500 is appropriated by the state. The former appropriation of $1,500 was for one teacher, with an additional $1,000 for each and every other teacher. Approximately ten students will attend the school from the county and 20 or 30 from the city. Officials believe the new system will be more efficient and will produce better results than the old plan.

ENCOURAGE BUILDING IN LIMA IS PLAN OF C. C. CODE COMMITTEE

A discussion of why other building code committees organized in Lima have failed to obtain results was among the first matters to come before the Chamber of Commerce building committee at the Lima club, Thursday noon, for purposes of organization.

Nearly all of the members of the committee, from P. M. Hulsken down have previously served on building code committees. They related their experiences, telling why the committees failed to put it over. The building code, which the committee ultimately hopes to present to city council for adoption, is to be based on the state building code, but some slight changes will be made to adapt it to conditions peculiar to Lima.

In making up the code, the committee will work for protection of both the real estate owner who is paying for the building, as well as the contractor who does the work. The most modern sanitary provisions will be incorporated by the committee, yet the committee will seek to make it as unrestrictive as possible, to encourage building.

DEED TO PROPERTY LOST; TITLE QUIETED

Title to lot 27 in Seaboard's addition to Lima, on W. Spring-st., was quieted in common pleas court Thursday, in the case of Frances Randall against Harry H. Harner, and Anna Harner, Los Angeles.

The original deed to the property became lost or misplaced and could not be found. Harner, it is said, re-count was asked to complete the necessary part of the transaction.

LIMA FIRM ASSIGNS PART OF SEWER WORK

Notice was filed with Auditor David L. Rupert Thursday that a portion of sewer contract No. 6 awarded to Dick & Clark, Lima contractors, has been assigned to McHugh & Cole. Estimates presented by the latter on the contract are to be paid.

The latter firm has taken over the excavation work for the Lima sewer, according to Auditor Rupert. The sewer in question is the Askins lateral relief project.

SIGN ADOPTED AT GALLON MEETING TO DESIGNATE HARDING HIGHWAY ROUTE

Less than 40 percent of the highways in Ohio have been improved, according to statistics presented before the directors of the Harding Highway association in Gallon. Joe Hartline and J. Kennard Johnson, who represented Allen, at the meeting, returned home Wednesday night having been delayed by heavy rains enroute.

State Highway Commissioner Leon C. Herrick, who had expected to attend the meeting, wired that he could not be present, because of a special meeting of the Governor Davis cabinet.

The directors voted to erect signs along the route at once. The emblem adopted, is the outline of Ohio, with the letters H. H. intertwined. The sign will be painted on posts along the route and made up in the form of a shield for display on cars.

Two big signs will be placed at the east and west ends of the route, to inform motorists touring on the Lincoln Highway of the advantages of taking the route thru Lima and Marion. One sign will be west of Delphos and the other east of Mansfield.

T. F. Cassidy, of Kenton, was appointed to take charge of the work of marking the route.

LAY CORNERSTONE AT CELINA

Impressive Ceremony Marks Event At New Court House

CELINA—(Special).—The cornerstone of the new Mercer-co court house was laid Wednesday afternoon, with impressive ceremonies and was witnessed by thousands of people.

The ceremonies were opened by the vesting singing "America," which was followed by the invocation by Rev. W. M. McQuinn.

W. T. Palmer, president of the Celina Business Men's association, as master of ceremonies, announced the contents of the cornerstone of the old court house and that they would be placed in the new corner-stone with the new contributions. The aged contents, dating back to 1867, were coins, Confederate currency, letters and pictures.

The new contributions include many letters from business and professional men and officials, coins, stamps, pictures and views of the town; two watches, one modern by E. M. Dull and one of 1846 by Jeweler George F. Weber, a chain drive time piece of wonderful workmanship; maps; plans and specifications of the new building; rare curios donated by Mrs. V. Estey, one place being 107 years old; and last but not least "Old Glory."

The principal address of the day was delivered by Hon. Ralph Pickens, Chicago, who spoke with great eloquence and was loudly applauded. Singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" by the assembly with band accompaniment, closed the ceremonies of the day.

ELECTRICAL COMPANIES ARRANGE TO DISPOSE OF LIMA SECURITY ISSUES

At a conference Thursday between representatives of the Northern Electric company, Columbus, the Westinghouse Electric of Pittsburgh and representatives of bond houses, arrangements were made for facilitating the transfer of notes issued by the city in payment for the boulevard lighting extension system, now in process of installation.

Some three weeks ago, following a conference with Auditor David L. Rupert, the contractors agreed to take the bonds in payment for the work. In turn they arranged to transfer them to the bond companies. Thursday's meeting was to smooth out details of the transaction and arrange for payments of estimates.

MADE MENTAL DEFECTIVES BY INJURY TO THE NECK

CLEVELAND—Thousands of children became mental defectives from injury to the neck at birth, Dr. Raymond W. Bailey, Philadelphia, declared in an address at the 23rd, annual convention of the American Osteopathic Association here today. All of these cases can be cured by osteopathic adjustment of the neck, he said, adding that nothing else can cure them.

Osteopathic clinics for the free treatment of these cases are to be established all over the country, Dr. Bailey announced. In this way, it is expected, thousands of defective minds will be restored to efficiency.

THOMAS JEFFERSON HOME IS OFFERED FOR SALE

NEW YORK—Reports that Monticello, the home of Thomas Jefferson, near Charlottesville, Va., on the market, were confirmed today by Jefferson M. Levy, former congressman and present owner of the historic estate. Levy said upkeep costs had become too burdensome and that he would sell Monticello provided he could find a purchaser "deemed able and worthy to become the owner of such a shrine."

He said he had made efforts to have the government buy the estate as a summer home for presidents and that he would be willing to sell Monticello to the government for $500,000. He values the estate at $1,000,000.

APPEAL DECISION IN BOOSE CASE

Award of Alimony and Care of Child to Wife

JUDGE EASTMAN'S OPINION

Sustains Contention of Mrs. Boose in Her Suit

Mrs. Frances Robinson Boose was awarded the amount of $100 a month for support of herself and child, from Roger E. Boose, in a decision handed down Thursday by Judge E. R. Eastman, Ottawa.

Mrs. Boose sought separate maintenance and alimony. The hearing of the case was begun before Judge Eastman in common pleas court here Monday of last week and concluded on Monday of this week.

Custody of Billy Boose, the son, was awarded to the wife. All money paid by Boose to Mrs. Boose since the date of the filing of her petition is to be credited as part of the total Boose is to pay. Boose is also to pay the remainder of his wife's expense bills arising from and occasioned by the birth of her child and previous thereto.

MAY VISIT HIS CHILD.

Support of the child is to be continued after two years, according to the necessities as provided by law. Provisions is made that Boose may visit the child once a month.

The decree was made a lien on Boose's property.

Judge Eastman, in a lengthy opinion, held that Frances Robinson Boose did not marry Roger Boose for any financial advantage, but that in so doing, she made a sacrifice and from her love letters, which were presented as evidence, the court says it is plainly evident that she made the sacrifice from no motive that had anything to do with money.

COURT SCORES BOOSE.

Judge Eastman declared Boose's treatment of his wife was such "as to drive away every vestige of affection she should have for him."

The court held that Boose understood full well his wife's religious views before he was married and that he had no reason to complain of rules to which he subscribed his name before marriage and agreed to maintain and live by.

Boose's attorney announced that it is probable the case will be carried to the court of appeals. "I have not yet consulted with Boose, but I can say, almost off-hand, that it is very likely we will take the case to upper court," the attorney said.

HIGHWAY OUTLAWRY

BANK robbers who used to work under cover of darkness, later became daylight looters of financial institutions, until the practice became too dangerous as gang after gang was rounded up, resulting in several of their number biting the dust.

They are now engaged in a new occupation, both day and night. Auto parties are their victims. Using high powered cars, these bandits linger along stretches of improved roads much traveled, as far away as possible from habitations, halting autos under pretext that they are victims of a breakdown or approaching their quarry from the rear, robbing them and then scurrying away to another section, to seek new victims.

This sort of outlawry is becoming quite common and is an argument against motor parties carrying with them considerable sums of money or valuable jewelry. In some instances, motorists have been forced from their cars at the point of guns and required to walk to the nearest town, after their car has been taken from them and placed in charge of one of the bandit party.

This sort of thing is going on in Ohio as well as in other states. The highway robber is so hard pressed by officers of the law that he is required to be constantly evolving some new form of plying his nefarious vocation.

So far as has been reported, Allen-co has been singularly fortunate in escaping incidents of this sort of a serious character, probably due for the most part to the fact that motorists, particularly those traveling at night, exercise care and caution to as great an extent as possible. In fact, it is becoming so that when an auto driver is in trouble along the road and needs help from others, drivers are chary about heeding a signal to stop.

BORROWING—A BAD HABIT

THERE is perhaps nothing that destroys more friendships and does it quicker than the borrowing habit. It is a failing that exists among friends all too generally, for the good and welfare of their friendship.

It is easy to "stick up" another for a five or ten, or the amount desired, but quite too often the paying back process is so long delayed that the one who has been "touched" becomes skeptical about ever getting it. Then comes a cool reminder, further promises by the borrower and coldness steps in where warmth before existed. A few dollars has destroyed another friendship.

The debt is finally squared, but friendship is gone. Thereafter, the borrower hasn't the nerve to ask again, and the chosen object of his request fights shy of another "touch." Then, too, there is often the occasion of the borrower knowing full well when he asks that he never intends to repay.

Those who have made a study of the results of the borrowing habit among others are a unit in the expression of the belief that women are more careful about repaying debts of honor than are men. Whether it is a sense of pride or rather an innate desire to be square and honest, is not altogether determined, but it appears to be an indisputable fact that, generally speaking, it is safer to loan money to women than to men.

IN YE OLDEN DAYS

FREQUENTLY one hears the remark "If we could but have those good old times over again, when Lima was a village."

Quite naturally, no one except a person who is now quite old would ever think of such a thing and even they are not so much concerned with a return of conditions as they are about the vain regret that the hands of time cannot be turned back, so that they may be young again.

Let us analyze those "good old times." Do you recall when the public square in Lima was a public barnyard, where horses were unhitched from vehicles, tied to a wheel, an arm load of hay thrown onto the ground and a bag of oats provided for the equines?

How many recall the days when a two-story structure was considered a skyscraper and when not even Main-st was macadamized? Remember when Lima was a straggling village on the north bank of Ottawa river; when tallow candles and later the coal oil lamp afforded illumination; when the only means of travel was by horseback?

Read the history of Lima and Allen-co as laid down by chroniclers who were here in the early days and who knew what they were talking about when they indited it. Visit the historical department at Memorial Hall and study the crude implements that were used by early settlers, thru sheer necessity. Read about the cholera epidemics, the visitations of locusts and grasshoppers that denuded grain fields.

Inform yourselves of these things and there will be less sighing for the "good old times." They were happy days indeed for those who experienced them, despite their drawbacks and the inconveniences of the times, but not one, not even the aged pioneers, would seriously consider the opportunity to return, if it could be afforded, to the days of the ox cart, the primitive forest, the fight against wild beasts and savage Indians.

MISS LIMA: "Lenine has Trotsky jailed. Now if someone will perform a similar service for Lenine, there may be some hope for Russia."

SHORT ONES

ALL that glitters is not gold. Neither are all city governments fool proof.

THERE will be nine billion sealskin coats next winter. It is just announced that nine million seals have been caught.

ONE redeeming feature about summer furs is that the wearers are compelled to help run the government by paying taxes on them.

SOME of the small boys would be glad to forego a bath or two a week in order that the city might supply water for street improvements.

THE awarding of a public contract to a corporation or individual that was not the lowest bidder is always interesting. It gives folks something to dig into for a reason.

ADVERTISING PAYS

DOES advertising pay during dull seasons? That is the question many merchants and laymen have asked since the beginning of the present mid-summer lull.

There is one merchant in Lima, at least, who can answer the question satisfactorily. He advertised a sale a few days ago, gave real values and yesterday announced that he had cleared his stock of suits with the exception of 24 garments.

Others are having equally good results. That would indicate that judicious advertising pays, no matter what the conditions.

Returns to earth long desolate and cold,
And bids the lilies, bursting from the mold,

HOT-WEATHER TORTURE

ON the one hand is the importance of dealing with the agricultural condition, which everybody understands; it will be unnecessary for me to describe it. An emergency is before us now.

On the other hand, here comes the senator from South Dakota (Mr. Sterling) with his little bill in one hand and an empty beer bottle under his arm, demanding that the entire country shall stop, that Congress shall hesitate, that everybody shall hold his breath until we can pass a law that will prevent some doctor giving a prescription which will let somebody drink a glass of beer.

It seems to me there is no comparison between the importance of these two bills, Mr. President.—Sen. Norris (R.) Nebr.

JUST FOLKS—BY EDGAR A. GUEST

KNOWING HOW

Some men there are can talk of dates
And tell what old-time sages said
And some can prate of traffic rates
And sprout the chemistry of bread:
In education's varied lore
Is much to fill the minds of men
But when a task we stand before
It's "knowing how" that's needed then.

There are wise tongues which can expound
The deep philosophies of life;
Some know the laws which govern sound,
But it's an art to whet a knife.
Our printed pages all are rich
With wisdom from the gifted pen,
But when the world must dig a ditch
It's "knowing how" that's needed.

He is an educated man
Who knows his work and does it well,
Who builds exactly to the plan
Or weeds a joint or digs a well,
And tho of him we little boast
Nor wreath much laurel for his brow,
The man we need and use the most
Is he who serves by "knowing how."

TODAY'S HEALTH HINTS

By William Brady, M. D.

THE DISCOMFORTS OF A VACATION (6)

There is now on the market a very compact two-wheeled trailer, costing not more than $375, which would be just about right to carry the first aid kit recommended for vacationists by the U. S. Public Health Service. But maybe a specially built Pullman would do as well. The emergency outfit I recommend for the vacationist may be carried in a pocket and should cost not to exceed the price of a day's board. Here's the list and may heaven have mercy on the reader who writes later and asks me to repeat the list, as he has mislaid the clipping.

- 1 One ounce of tincture of iodine, to be used for the immediate swabbing of every wound or abrasion.
- 2 One ounce of flexible collodion, to paint over such wounds or abrasions as a protective dressing.
- 3 A spool of one-inch adhesive plaster.
- 4 A box or tube of Liptoline, which is an ointment of zinc oxide, boric acid and eucalyptol, excellent for burns, sunburn, mosquito bites, etc.
- 5 One two-inch gauze bandage.
- 6 One envelope or package of folded sterile gauze.
- 7 One ounce of aromatic spirits of ammonia.
- 8 A tube of analgesic ointment—five grains of menthol, five grains of methyl salicylate, one ounce of ointment base—as an external application for relief of headache, neuralgia and other pains.
- 9 Two ounces aromatic syrup of rhubarb—the civilized substitute for the barbaric castor oil.
- 10 Two ounces milk of magnesia—ant-acid, mildly laxative, agreeable alkali.
- 11 A dozen five grain tablets of acetyl-salicylic acid one tablet being as a rule, relief for headache.
- 12 One ounce of boric acid. As many grains as will dissolve in an ounce or two of water, boiled, will make an eye wash or mouth wash or gargle which is without superiors among safe antiseptics.

As everybody knows, aromatic spirits of ammonia from half to two thirds of a spoonful, given in an inch of cold water in a glass, is a quickly acting heart stimulant, fleetly in effect, but without danger. In fainting, shock or collapse from any cause it may be given every ten or fifteen minutes for a half a dozen doses if necessary, always in water. The rest of the list calls for no explanation.

First aid kits for travelers and motorists as offered by the stores, remind me of brother Andell's fishing tackle—there is such a bewildering assortment that by the time one decides on the proper outfit for the occasion it is too late to do any fishing and one must hurry to get the tackle all dried and put away before darkness descends. On inspecting some of these fearfully and wonderfully arranged first aid out-fits I often wonder and think what a terrible predicament it would be for a doctor to be caught some time with an accident on his hands and nothing but a $3.50 emergency kit to work with! The other day I watched seventy thousand dollars' worth of fire apparatus dash up the avenue, crash into and wreck a $3,000 automobile and hurry on several more blocks to find only some smoke coming out of a $250 garage—and I thought "That reminds me I must include a first aid list in the scenario of 'The Hazards of a Vacation'."

NATURE PUT IRON FOR YOUR BLOOD

In the husks of grains and the peels and skins of fruits and vegetables, but modern methods of cooking throw all these things away—hence, the alarming increase in anemia—iron starvation of the blood with its never ending trend of symptoms of nervous irritability, general weakness, fatigue, disturbed digestion, headaches, pains across the back, etc.

Neither so rich in nature to take organic iron—evaded iron—to help enrich your blood and rectify your worn-out exhausted nerves. Over 3,000,000 people annually are using it. Quinacel Iron is sold by all druggists—Advt.

AUTHORS WIN WAY ARE WRITING BETTER PLAYS

TIME was when movies were considered solely a means of entertainment. Time was when cinema productions were viewed by movie fans because they wanted an hour or two of diversion. But times have changed.

Movie fans today are going to movies with the same mental attitude they assume when they read a book. They are looking upon the productions of the screen in the same manner with which they read the works of some noted author and they are enjoying and criticizing both in a comparable manner.

The movie fans of today want more than a continuous program of diverting films. Occasionally they want something that will make them think. They want character delineation rather than time killing romances. They want problems rather than light comedies and they are getting them.

That is the reason why we have seen so much recently of the names of the writers of the scenarios. Men who have attained fame in the field of literature are being drafted for similar work in the celluloid world.

Men who have achieved success by writing for the reading public are adding to their laurels by writing for screen presentation. And the public is getting used to it and is watching for the names of writers rather than stars.

SPLITTING THEM INTO CLASSES

JOHN Galsworthy, E. Phillips Oppenheim and even the genius Materlinck have recently been counted among those who are devoting their time and ability, in part if not in whole, to writing for the film world.

Mary Roberts Rinehart who delighted the reading public with her stories of "Bab the Blue-Dee" has allowed them to be filmed.

Scott Fitzgerald, the Princeton University graduate who was the leader of the country some few months back because of his work "This Side of Paradise" has also broken into filmdom. Many of his best short stories have been adapted for presentation on the silver screen.

And most of these works are featured by character delineation or a problem that has some definite appeal to human nature.

It is being realized more and more by producers that there are good and bad movies like there are good and bad books. A kind of system is developing in the movie world like that in the book world. There is literature and reading matter and there are photoplays and movies.

We would class the better pictures as real photoplays and the ordinary run of productions as mere movies.

"O'MALLEY OF THE MOUNTED"—THE BEST

PICTURES being shown in Lima the latter half of this week cannot be classified without having been seen. However, their titles and synopsis might give some indication of their worth.

"Clothes" at the Sigma is hardly a classical photoplay, for it is more of a style show than a plot picture. It holds an especial appeal for the women because of the one predominating feature. A plot, however, is there.

"O'Malley of the Mounted" with William S. Hart starring, at the Faurot probably comes nearer the classical photoplay than any others in the city today. William S. Hart is seldom cast in a picture that is not worthy of his action, and "O'Malley of the Mounted" demands expert work.

At the Lyric "The Smarter Sex" affords a problem, but we reserve any comment until we have seen the picture, for the title appeals more to the sensuous than any other element. It smacks of the undesirable, for it cannot be criticized without being given a fair "seeing."

The true virtue that all of the pictures hold the last half of the week is that they furnish sufficient diversion to make one forget the heat. That's more than enough when the thermometer climbs up to ninety and then some.

MISS WAGNER'S UP-TO-DATE THEATRICAL NEWS AND GOSSIP MEET MISS HELENE CHADWICK. "PRETTIEST GIRL IN AMERICA"

Helene Chadwick, a little Goldwyn leading lady, is another one of the many screen actresses who have been called the "prettiest girl in America" during the past few months. Miss Chadwick, however, is not a bit excited over the fact, because she would rather be called the greatest actress, preferring to be talented instead of beautiful.

She is a very genuine sort of person, the kind who says when she poses with monkeys that she does not like them very much but she will oblige Mr. Publicity Man and Mr. Cameraman and be taken with a snake if necessary. Showing what an actress she is, she looks quite charmed while holding the little monkey. And as anyone will agree, a lot of men will be willing to revert to type, in the Darwinian sense, after looking at this pose.

MOVIE SECRETS ARE REVEALED

Q.—What sort of language should the motion picture scenario writer use?

A.—Photoplay writers should think and write in terms of pictures. Remember that everything you write will have to be interpreted by means of action in pictures. Select words that will bring forth visions of pictures. Shun adjectives and descriptive words and write in action language. Remember that the words of action are verbs.

Q.—Is Pearl White still married?

A.—Pearl is still Mrs. Wallace McCutcheon. She recently returned from Paris without having obtained the divorce which she threatened to get overseas.

Q.—How old is Juanita Hansen?

A.—Juanita is now 24 years old, having been born in 1897.

Q.—Where does Grace Darmond live and is she married?

A.—Grace lives in single harmony at 5219 Franklin Ave., Hollywood, Cal.

Q.—Sudde gossip has it, however, that she is to marry a prominent Chicago attorney in the fall.

Q.—What picture is Douglas Fairbanks going to make after he finishes "The Three Musketeers"?

A.—Doug's next movie is to be a screen version of "The Virginian." Dustin Farnum made a tremendous hit in the stage version of this story which was written by Owen Wister.

Q.—Where does Marguerite Courtot live now?

A.—This favorite of the early movie days is now living at 19 Hudson Pl., Weehawken, N. J.

How many movie actresses can you name who got their start thru winning motion picture beauty contests? Look for the answer in this department tomorrow.

Ask questions. The Movie Secrets Editor will answer them. Address him in care of this paper, giving your name and address.

BULLETIN
United States Bituminous Coal Commission, Interstate Commerce Commission and Geological Survey urgently recommend bituminous coal users to lay in winter fuel reserves now

Coal For The Winter

Not many months ago, factories, public utilities and other large consumers of bituminous coal were buying any coal they could get, and paying any price demanded. Railroads were congested with coal trains moving from the mines, and long strings of "empties" going back for more. Freight cars had to be rationed for other commodities. All business suffered.

Now there is a surplus of both coal and transport. But the country is entering the harvest season when the movement of the crops creates a heavy demand for cars.

Coal consumers who now anticipate a portion of their winter needs by ordering fuel for early delivery have the advantage of a "buyers' market," and the certainty of prompt rail deliveries. The buyer of coal now can obtain the precise grade of fuel best suited for his use.

The New York Central Lines, consuming 12 to 15 million tons of coal a year for locomotive power, have built up their own fuel reserves as insurance against the uncertainties of the coming winter.

At the present time, we have facilities and equipment for the movement of coal to industries along our Lines that have not yet made adequate provision for winter reserves.

Society News

SOCIAL gatherings in honor of out-of-town guests and brides-elect continue to hold sway for the remainder of the week.

The same weather, which we all talk about and discuss so unmercifully, really has much to do with the number of social arrangements, during the months of July and August. It is only the "daring," "reckless," energetic hostess who is going to ask people to enjoy her hospitality these days and yet, fortunately, there are a number of such hostesses. The calendar for the remaining days of the week is sufficient proof of this.

Mrs. Clyde Troutman is entertaining at 1 o'clock luncheon at the Hotel Norval, Friday, honoring Miss Rae Heffner, bride-elect. Thursday evening Mrs. C. B. Steinbaugh is entertaining at dinner for Miss Heffner's pleasure.

Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock Misses Janet White, Josephine Putscher and Hope Hollister will receive a large group of guests at the Cable country home, Springside, in compliment to Misses Louise Bissman, Mansfield, Helen Schand, Marion and Mary Faulkner, Bucyrus, house guests of Miss Mary Roberts. Saturday Miss Louise Ackerman is entertaining at 1 o'clock luncheon for the pleasure of Miss Roberts' guests.

Friday, Mrs. Felix Haveman, Celina, will be hostess at a bridge-tee at the Shawnee country club for the pleasure of her guests, Mrs. Lines, Houston and Miss Loretta Broussard, Beaumont, Tex.

Honoring Misses Louise Bissman, Mansfield; Miss Helen Schand, Marion; and Miss Marjorie Faulkner, Bucyrus, Miss Mary Roberts charmingly entertained a large group of guests with a delightful dancing party at the Shawnee country club, Wednesday evening. Pinks and large baskets, containing golden glow, were evidenced through the club house and the lights were shaded with Japanese lanterns. Music for the program of 16 dances was furnished by a popular local orchestra. Punch was served through the evening.

Miss Robert's guests included: Misses Pauline Wimmer, Margaret McHaffey, Dorothy Frankel, Sorolla Wood, Helen and Dorothy Hunter, Elizabeth Clark, Gertrude Bauer, Charlotte Stiner, Margaret George, Bess Sherman, Louise Ackerman, Dorothy Collins, Effie Spruangel, Maude Dunn, Nellie Bigley, Violet and Anna Bradley, Miriam Kaufman, Margaret Williams, Margaret Graham, Magdalene Stolzenbach, Mary Parmenter, Doris Cook, Doris Ingraham, Geraldine Duffield, Mildred Cain, Catherine and Elizabeth Moulton, Katherine Young, Josephine Paris, Helen Johnson, Alice Williams, Marion Cable, Catherine Galt, Hope Hollister, Dorothy Wiegner, Betty and Sara Laughlin, Janet White, Rosalee Stagle, Pauline O'Connor, Esther Kriete, Martha Lachner, Mary Angela Leuch, Elizabeth Brennan, Josephine Garretson, Martha, Mary K. and Annette Roby, Ruth Wells, Abigail Sullivan, Garrett Howell, Geraldine Maguire, Marjorie and Freda Prosser, Jane Bentley, Jeanette Willower, Lois Cunningham, Rosemary Christen, Jeanette Stolz, Elizabeth L. Black and white effects seem always to be popular in Paris. Each season brings out some fetching costume in this color scheme. Talbot has just recently used it with very pleasing results. In this afternoon frock, the black is furnished by the satin foundation and the tulle overdress. The white is a delicately designed lace which veils the blouse and skirt. The lace shows plainly in the front and back, but is covered with tulle over the hips and in the bodice.

This is but one of the many innovations recently brought over from Paris. It shows what one French designer considers appropriate for afternoon wear—short, loose sleeves, a bodice low cut in the back and a longer skirt. The skirt which is showing a downward trend in Paris has not yet reached this country, however.

WIFE IS GLOOMY

Husband is Out of Employment and is Irritable

Advised to Not Think of Leaving Him for That Reason

Dear Miss Smart:
I AM a married woman 30 years of age. My husband is out of work and I am very disgusted. I work hard and try to keep things going, but nothing seems to please him these days. I am so fed up with him. What would you advise me to do?

A WIFE
If you married "for better or for worse," surely you wouldn't be unprincipled enough to leave your husband when a bit of misfortune has been cast upon him. To leave him at this time would only show a cowardly trait in your nature.

Of course, if your husband is out of employment of his own accord and is making no effort to secure a position, he is much at fault. In that case it is your duty to bring him to a realization of his carelessness and make every effort to make a real man of him.

If, however your husband is out of work only because he, like hundreds of other men, has found it impossible to secure employment, you must make amends for his irritability and forgive him for his unappreciative attitude toward everything you do for him. Perhaps he feels humiliated because he has to depend upon you for his welfare and that his present unfortunate attitude may be due to this.

Forget your own troubles by being thankful that you are strong enough and capable enough to maintain your home in this time of need. Be cheerful! Put joy into your work and try to love it for the happiness it is certain to bring.

Dear Miss Smart:
I would like to enjoy what one calls "perfect health." I do not mean to say that I am sickly and unhealthy, but sometimes I feel I could be better by taking proper care of myself.

Good health may be yours and it can be attained if you will determine to do certain things and observe some very simple rules. In order to be in perfect health one must keep the system clear and clean. One's eyes are usually dull, the complexion lumpy and sallow, and a good disposition ruined if the blood is impure and the body improperly nourished. To doubt, you have at times read of the happiness and vitality which exists among the French people. Perhaps you wonder why these people should be possessed of these desirable traits. One reason is that they know and understand the proper kinds of food. They are unusually fond of fruits, salads and fresh vegetables. All these help

Honoring Miss Kate Grossman, Chicago, who motored to this city for several days before going to Portland, Ind., for a visit, Miss Edna Minsky entertained a group of guests Thursday afternoon. WIFE IS GLOOMY

Husband is Out of Employment and is Irritable

Advised to Not Think of Leaving Him for That Reason

Dear Miss Smart:
I AM a married woman 30 years of age. My husband is out of work and I am very disgusted. I work hard and try to keep things going, but nothing seems to please him these days. I am so fed up with him. What would you advise me to do?

A WIFE
If you married "for better or for worse," surely you wouldn't be unprincipled enough to leave your husband when a bit of misfortune has been cast upon him. To leave him at this time would only show a cowardly trait in your nature.

Of course, if your husband is out of employment of his own accord and is making no effort to secure a position, he is much at fault. In that case it is your duty to bring him to a realization of his carelessness and make every effort to make a real man of him.

If, however your husband is out of work only because he, like hundreds of other men, has found it impossible to secure employment, you must make amends for his irritability and forgive him for his unappreciative attitude toward everything you do for him. Perhaps he feels humiliated because he has to depend upon you for his welfare and that his present unfortunate attitude may be due to this.

Forget your own troubles by being thankful that you are strong enough and capable enough to maintain your home in this time of need. Be cheerful! Put joy into your work and try to love it for the happiness it is certain to bring.

Dear Miss Smart:
I would like to enjoy what one calls "perfect health." I do not mean to say that I am sickly and unhealthy, but sometimes I feel I could be better by taking proper care of myself.

Good health may be yours and it can be attained if you will determine to do certain things and observe some very simple rules. In order to be in perfect health one must keep the system clear and clean. One's eyes are usually dull, the complexion lumpy and sallow, and a good disposition ruined if the blood is impure and the body improperly nourished. To doubt, you have at times read of the happiness and vitality which exists among the French people. Perhaps you wonder why these people should be possessed of these desirable traits. One reason is that they know and understand the proper kinds of food. They are unusually fond of fruits, salads and fresh vegetables. All these help

WOMEN OBJECT TO MAN MADE LAWS

Vote Down Proposed Ban Upon Their Smokes

WASHINGTON, D. C.—(Special) Vigorous protest against attempts by men to pass legislation regulating what women shall and shall not do were voiced at a hearing today before the house district committee on a bill by Rep. Johnson, Mississippi, prohibiting the smoking by "female persons" in public in Washington.

Miss Alice Robertson, Oklahoma, the one woman member of Congress, took an active part in the hearing, indicating both in her questions and statements that she is not friendly to the proposed legislation.

Chairman Focht of the committee in the course of the hearing called for a "hand vote" by the spectators, indicating whether they favored the proposed legislation or not. The vote by the women was one in favor and 24 in opposition to the Johnson bill. The vote of the men was one in favor and 19 in opposition.

Representative Johnson argued that smoking is injurious to the health and morals of women and has a bad effect upon their children. He said that congress has every right to protect the health and morals of the people.

The hearing went far afield of the subject of cigarette smoking to the question of what is not proper in clothing for women to wear.

Representative Johnson said that he had several thousand letters, many of them from women, which were profane and filthy. He read extracts from some of those in support of his bill.

Representative Woods of Virginia suggested that women themselves could and would right the evil. Representative Johnson replied that the "very best man in the country" is helpless as a child when he is with a woman. He described the so-called smart set as thus named because they are smart enough "to cover up their devilment so as not to be caught."

Mrs. C. E. Cassidy, a Washington woman, testified that she had never smoked a cigarette in her life, but that if "riled" her to have any group of men tell her what she should or should not do.

"You can trust the women to regulate themselves," she said, and laid stress on the fact that women have led the way for better standards of living everywhere.

TUNNEL TO BANK IS DISCOVERED

Latest Discovery in the Spurgin Case At Chicago

CHICAGO—(By Associated Press) —Discovery of a $450,000 leather speculation of Warren C. Spurgin, missing president of the closed Michigan-ave Trust co., was reported today by the state attorney's office. The leather, it was stated, was found in the warehouse of a local wholesale leather dealer and was in Spurgin's name. An effort will be made to list it among the assets of the missing bank president. It was stated.

With indictments out and a search for Spurgin leading from Canada to Mexico, a second discovery was announced today by the state attorney's office where operatives have found an apparent plot to tunnel into the buildings of the defunct bank. A hole six feet square and four feet deep was discovered just outside the wall of the vault, it was stated.

Mrs. Spurgin and her daughter, Vivian, who returned here from Detroit, have been released after close questioning by State's Attorney Smith.

Union Tailors in Lima Oppose New Wage Plan

Tailors in the three union shops of Lima Thursday declared the new wage proposition submitted to them to replace the hourly rate provided for a cut too large to be considered. They say they have been making from $33.60 to $35 a week. They declare the proposed piece-work plan of employers would cut them to $22 a week or less.

Tailors say they can make two ordinary coats a week, for which the employers propose to pay $11, each; about five pairs of trousers for which the employers offer $3.50, each; five or six vests for which $3, each is proposed. Extra pay for frills is offered.

The scale for the last 15 months has been: contractors and busmen, 70 cents an hour; vest makers and pants makers, 60 cents an hour, and experienced helpers, 40 cents an hour.

Summers & Gilles, Nelson & Herbst and Werner & Winkler, the three union shops, have declared for an open shop in the future. Twenty tailors are out.

CINDERELLA TODAY

By RUBY M. AYERS

Eleven o'clock came and no Cynthia—twelve! ...
Pauline, sitting up in her room fully dressed, heard a step on the garden path.

She flew downstairs.
"Oh, I thought you never were coming," she said. She dragged Cynthia thru the door. "Oh, I've been scared! You promised to come on the six o'clock."

"I know," Cynthia avoided her eyes. "I know I did, but I couldn't. Is it all right?"
"If you mean does Capt. Stanford know, no, he doesn't," said Pauline.

Her voice was resentful.
"Well, it's the last time, anyway," she said in a stifled voice.

She sat down in one of the buy chairs and looked at Pauline.
"I suppose you won't make me any coffee tonight?" she asked.

"Of course, I will," Pauline turned to the door. "I'm not really cross," she apologized. "It's only that I was just so—scared."

She took the coffee back to Cynthia, who stood by silently while she drank it; then she said suddenly:
"And you won't—ever do it again, will you?"

Cynthia shook her head.
"I shan't ever have the chance," she said apathetically, and then, with sudden passion—
"Oh, why are things so unfair? Why can't that horrible cousin, who ever he is—die?"

"Yes," Pauline agreed heartily.
"I wish to goodness he would."

When Pauline came down the following morning, early as it was, she found Stanford before her.

"Goodness! Is anything the matter?" she asked amazed.
She was painfully aware of a little strange look in Stanford's eyes as he answered:

"I wanted to speak to you; that's why I'm down so early."
He passed her and shut the door. "Pauline, what time did you go to bed last night?"

Pauline's heart gave a great thump, her cheeks crimsoned. She dragged her courage together and answered:
"Well, it wasn't very late. Why do you want to know?"

"Yes—but what time was it?" he persisted.
She knit her brows. "Oh, about 10 I should think."

"Pauline," said Stanford sharply. "Did you come down again?" Late I mean after 12?"

She hesitated.
"Yes, I did, I came down for a book, but whatever has it got to do with you?"

"And was the book in the library?"
"Yes."

A swift emotion crossed his face, and she heard him catch his breath sharply.
"And—you were alone, of course?"

he said rather sharply.
So he suspected! He suspected that Cynthia had deceived him! If he knew, if he would go away and then her terrified imagination could see no further into a future that was all at once robbed of every hope.

"Yes, I was alone—of course!" she said with a gasp.
Her cheeks were fiery, but she forced herself to return his gaze.

There was a long silence, then Stanford turned away.
"Thank you," he said quietly.
"But ... but what is the meaning of it?" she asked shrilly. "I don't understand! Why do you ask me all these questions?"

He was silent a reply by the entrance of Mason, and Pauline slipped away.
She went up to Cynthia's room.

"I just had to come Pauline insisted, almost in tears. "Capt. Stanford is down stairs! And he's asked me heaps of questions—about last night!"

Cynthia sat up.
"Well, and what did you say?" she asked sharply.

"He asked me if I was in the library after 12 I said 'Yes, I went down for a book.' I had to say yes, because I'm sure he'd seen me, or heard me. Then he asked if I was alone—"

"Well?"
"I had to say yes to that too," Pauline said shakily.

Cynthia laughed. "Well, I don't care what you said, as long as you don't give me away; and you won't, will you, Pauline?"

"You know I wouldn't be so mean," Pauline answered.
Cynthia sighed.

"Oh, well—it's over and done with now; and—Pauline!"
"Here's a little present for you," she said.

"Take them," said Cynthia, Pauline.

He gasped.
"For me? Three pounds! Oh, Cynthia, I've never had that much money in all my life!"

Cynthia's eyes were closed again. "Well, don't tell mother or any one that I gave it to you," she said.

Pauline was happy all day; she made plans and unmade them again every minute; finally she decided to ask for another day off and go over and discuss it with Julia.

Pauline did not see Stanford till she was ready to go. Then she encountered him at the gate.

"I'm going to see Julia," she said half timidly.
"Really?" His voice sounded almost like a stranger's and Pauline's heart contracted.

She tried another hesitating overture.
"And I'm going to buy a new coat."

He looked at her steadily.
"Some one has been giving you money?" he asked.

Pauline nodded.
"Yes ... it was on the tip of her tongue to add 'Cynthia,' but she stopped in time."

There was a little silence.
"Well, I won't keep you," Stanford said formally.

He raised his hat and walked away.
Pauline walked the six miles instead of going by train. She burst into tears when Julia took her into her arms.

"Why didn't you tell me you were coming? Oh, Pauline, darling! Is anything the matter?"

"Nothing," sobbed Pauline.
"Only—I'm so glad to see you," Julia watched her with anxious eyes.

"And—Captain Stanford?" she asked presently. "Is he quite well?"
"He's all right," said Pauline, with a sob.

But she cheered up presently and rumped with the babies; then she told Julia about the three pounds.

"Only it's supposed to be a secret," she said anxiously. "I promised Cynthia nobody should know; only of course, it's safe as houses with you, I know."

"It's lovely to be here again," she said smiling. "I don't know what I should do if I hadn't got you to come to."

"I'm going back by train to-night," Pauline said. "Mrs. Boulton gave me half a crown, so I can well afford it."

"I'd come to the station with you but I can't leave the babies ... Julia caught her hand as she was turning away. "Are you sure—quite sure—that there's really nothing the matter?" she asked anxiously. "That you're not unhappy about anything?"

Pauline laughed. "Of course I'm not."
She shut the gate behind her and walked away down the road.

"Pauline," said a voice thru the darkness, and there was Nicholas Stanford.

"Oh!" said Pauline softly.
"Why didn't you come in?" she would have been ever so pleased to see you."

"It's very kind of you," he said formally. "Very kind, but—but—"

Pauline heard the constraint of his voice.
"Is anything the matter?" she asked anxiously. "Anything—fresh I mean?"

He did not answer immediately; then he said, with a sort of rush: "Yes, something is the matter. I wanted to tell you this morning—that's why I got down so early."

Pauline, whatever happens, let's be straight with one another. I've got to know, one way or the other, but first I want to say that I'd do anything in the world for you—anything. Do you believe me?"

"Go on," she said faintly.
"And you'll tell me the truth! Swear that you will, Pauline! No matter what it is."

"Of course, but I don't know what you mean," she protested excitedly. "You do know! You must!" he broke in with such real anguish in his voice that a sudden dread touched her.

"I don't want to be hard on anyone, God knows!" Stanford went on hoarsely. "I'd sooner have lost my right hand than that this should have happened. Pauline, if I'm wrong in all this, I'll beg your pardon on my knees; I'll ..."

With a tremendous effort Pauline spoke.

"I don't know what you mean; oh, please tell me what has happened."

Stanford said roughly.

"Very well, if you won't spare me, or yourself, if you won't spare me, or ..."

"That day we came here—after we got home, you remember that I came downstairs late and found you in the library? I thought some one had broken into the house, but I found—you! You said you had come down for a book—"

"Yes."

"Well, I believed you; of course, I believed you. But in the morning I found that my desk had been broken open and—forty pounds in banknotes had been taken ..."

Pauline did not move and he went on again—
"It was a fool's trick on my part to have left the money there, I know, but—I've no reason to think it would be anything but safe. I'd left money there before."

NEWTON WORKS LIKE DEMON IN PREPARATION FOR SCRAP WITH MULLEN

(By JOSEPH A. BERNSTEIN.)

Johnny Newton, idol of Delphos and known to Lima as a scrapping pug has been training like a demon in the rural town in preparation for his battle here Friday night with Hope Mullen, Muncie, Ind., bearcat.

Newton has been supplementing his strenuous muscle building work in factories by systematized action in an improvised training camp in Delphos, comes the word from that city, and he has succeeded in reducing the number of inches around his waist by no small margin. In addition to that he has trained down to exactly 154 pounds when he last stepped on the scales.

Newton is surprising his many friends and admirers in the little town fourteen miles from Lima his consistent workouts.

And it's all for the scrap that is being presented Friday night at the Murphy-st ball park by the Manhattan sporting club of this city.

Newton is going up against

Hope Mullen to win, it his training can be taken as any indication of his hopes. And he's going to have Hope fulfilled when the battle is over, his friends declare.

Hope Mullen on the other hand is a changed man from what he used to be when he first fought in Lima. Two years ago, or more, Mullen first appeared in Lima on a card presented by the old Lima Athletic Club. In those days, Mullen fought semi final match by sheer strength and endurance then.

Today Mullen is said to have acquired a lot of science. Today he is being looked for by headliners and not semi final. In the old days, Mullen used to be a drawing card even if he wasn't scheduled for the final wind-up. He has lived up to the hopes of his boosters. He's climbing rapidly. I haven't seen Mullen in action for over a year, but I have it on good authority that he has developed into the kind of pug to whom the famous baseball adjective could be applied — "sweet."

Mullen and Newton have met before, and upon the two occasions, Newton has won. There is little wonder but what both of the boys are set for a real battle Friday night.

The Manhattan sporting club has made elaborate preparations for the card. It is to be an outdoor boxing festival with two preliminaries. Toad Checkey and Joe Trumpeter are booked for the semi final with Battling Hawk and Mac Donavan, two young Lima pugs for the curtain raiser. It is a heavy card, for none of the boys weigh below 150.

Wednesday an order came from Delphos, where Newton's training quarters are located, for an entire section of ringside seats. Most of the Lima fans are not reserving their seats but depending upon the final minute. The card looks like one that is going to present some interesting scrap. The final bout because of the rivalry between the two men overshadows the remainder of the program, however. It is this argument that is being watched closely by fans in five cities—Mansfield, Newton's home town, and Delphos, his training headquarters; Muncie, Mullen's home town and Sidney, his managerial headquarters, and Lima where the fans are pretty evenly divided as to favoritism.

Charley Maxwell will referee the three bouts.

DOWNEY IS AWARDED MIDDLEWEIGHT TITLE

Commission Overrules Decision Of Wilson's Referee

CLEVELAND — Bryan Downey of Cleveland, won the middleweight championship of the world from Johnny Wilson, Boston, by a knockout in the seventh round of a scheduled twelve round no-decision fight here last night.

The Cleveland Boxing Commission, overruling the verdict of Jimmy Gardner, Lowell, Mass., who refereed the fight and who had awarded it to Wilson on a foul, declared Downey champion. The Commission contended that Downey had knocked Wilson out the first time Downey knocked him down and that only the slow count of Gardner saved the champion.

The Commission says that disregarding the question of a fair count at the first knockdown, Downey technically won the fight a second time when Martin Killilea assisted the champion to arise after Downey had knocked him down a second time.

As Gardner's slow count of ten the first time, the champion staggered helplessly to his feet. Gardner motioned to the amazed Downey to go on with the fight. Downey ploughed in and rained a shower of rights and lefts on the helpless Wilson's jaw. He went down for the second time. This time, Killilea jumped on the edge of the ring where the stricken champion had fallen and assisted him to arise. Gardner evidently did not see this or paid no attention to it.

Gardner's statement after the fight was that he awarded the bout to Wilson on a foul claiming that Downey had hit the champion while he was down. This was after Downey had battered down Wilson the third time. Of all the operators on the field, none saw this alleged foul committed by Downey.

The Cleveland Boxing Commission overruled Gardner's verdict, however, and announced from the ring that Downey had won by a knockout the first time he floored Wilson. Wilson was down 13 and 4-5 seconds according to the official time keepers' stop watch.

Gardner was Wilson's own referee, put into the ring at the last minute when the champion refused to fight. The boxing commission named a local referee. Rather than disappoint the spectators the commission announced they would agree to Gardner but that they would remain at the ringside to see that both sides received a square deal.

Jack Dempsey may have fractured all high-powered, money-earning records for time elapsed in knocking out Georges Carpentier, but it reports regarding what Joe Lynch replied for boxing Sammy Sandow last June are correct. The West Side bantam takes the belt.

Dempsey on the basis of $300,000 for his bit, earned something like $117.25 per second against Carpentier.

Lynch, who fought Sandow at the Boxing Dome in the Bronx earlier in the year, was reported to have taken down $10,000 for his end. As Sandow lasted just fifty-five seconds with Lynch, the bantam boxer was paid $181.81 per second for his effort. Of this fifty-five seconds Sandow spent twenty-six taking counts, so Lynch really was at work only twenty-nine seconds at the rate of $344.33 per second. All of which is going some.

FEMALE RAILBIRDS SAVING RACING, DECLARES GEERS

COLUMBUS, O.—Gambling damsels have made up for the loss of Europe's aristocracy in the "import of kings."

Pin money and weekly wages of the female betting fiends are flooding the par mutuels. Pop Geers, famous sulky rider declared today in explaining the revived enthusiasm and crowded stands that have attended spring race meetings of the Grand Circuit this season.

"Women are better bettors than men," Geers chuckled as he told of the new order of things in the turf world. "Pretty nearly all of the ladies in the stands send down a little bet on each race of the day. And they pick some winners, mighty often—Women's intuition, I suppose you'd call it."

Its breezy little debutante and the high-headed, jet-jawed society matron that are getting the thrills out of picking a long shot according to "Pop."

"The women are getting free and easy now days," the grizzled pilot explained. "They are wearing the pants. They are getting just as bold as the men about where they go and what they do."

The birth of the female "railbird" saved the sport of kings from going out of business along with the other victims of the world war, he said.

"But there are more fast horses than there used to be. You seldom see one go along the Grand Circuit these days winning every race. The races are closer and it's seldom a driver flashes first in more than two or three races a meeting. That's making more interest and more enthusiasm."

When Geers wants rest after a hard days driving he trots his "iron horse" out of the stable and strolls along a country road.

"It's easier than piloting a steamer and you go faster," he said.

Roper - Wiggins
DETROIT — Captain Bob Roper of Chicago and Chuck Wiggins of Indianapolis, both aspirants to a heavyweight title bout with Jack Dempsey, meet in a ten round fight at Navin Field here tonight. It will be a no-decision bout. They are to weigh in at 175 pounds.

A substitute player figured largely in the defeat of the New York Americans. McManus, who replaced Sister at first base, hit a home run, triple and two singles sending in four of the St. Louis runs.

Emil Muesel, played his first game with the New York Nation since his transfer from the Philadelphia team. He caught one fly, made a single, walked once and participated in a double steal that scored a run. Ross Young of the Giants, hit a triple, double and two singles in four times at bat.

Two men were knocked out by thrown balls in practice. Lay Schmandt of the Brooklyn Nationals was hit by a pitched ball and will be out of the game for several days. Manager Melridge of the Washington Americans also was struck on the head by a ball thrown by a fellow outfielder.

FANS ASK RETURN OF WEAVER

CHICAGO — A petition bearing 19,900 names, asking for the reinstatement of "Buck" Weaver as a player for the Chicago White Sox has been presented to Chas. A. Comiskey, president of the club, it has been announced here. Weaver was released from trial for throwing games of the 1919 world's series when the court held there wasn't sufficient evidence to convict him.

Whether or not Weaver can play ball again is up to Judge Landis, supreme arbiter for the big leagues.

Play Off Of League Tie Undecided

Efforts are being made to call a meeting of the baseball commission of the Business Men's league to determine the procedure to be followed in deciding whether the Rotary or Lion outfit is entitled to the baseball championship of the city.

The tie standing that has resulted between the two with the season closed, necessitates some kind of a play off.

Manager Harman of the Lion outfit, the only one who could be reached concerning an opinion in the matter declared that a five game series to be played off in the next two weeks would be the most desirable policy he could think of.

Two games a week, with the rubber game scheduled if necessary, he feels will be sufficient to decide the title. Officials of the Rotary team could not be reached for an opinion.

An effort will be made to bring the commission together Thursday night.

Thursday afternoon the Elks and Kiwanis are scheduled to play off a postponed game. It will have no effect upon the final standings in the league.

Detroit Enters In A.A.U. Track Meet

DETROIT, Mich.—Detroit will be represented in the Central A. A. U. track and field championship meet at Chicago August 13 by four, and probably six athletes, it is announced. This will be the first time in nearly twenty years that the city has been represented in an out of town Central A. A. U. meet.

George Hester of the Detroit Northern High School, state champion in the 100 and 220 yard dashes; Hector Phillips, Detroit V. M. C. A. distance runner; Charles Foster, V. M. C. A., a walker, and J. C. Shea, of the Detroit Young Men's Order, hurdler, have been definitely selected by the Detroit Amateur Athletic Association to make the trip.

More May Be Given Freedom

CHICAGO.—The defense today resumed its bombardment of evidence presented by the state in the baseball trial which yesterday resulted in the freeing of two defendants, a tentative promise from the court to free three others, unless more evidence was presented, and a well supported alibi for a sixth of the eleven men on trial for an alleged conspiracy to throw the 1919 world series.

St. Louis witnesses went on the stand today to testify for Carl Zork, St. Louis defendant, who has been promised his freedom unless more evidence is introduced against him.

PROMISED FREEDOM.
Jack Weaver, Happy Feisch and Swede Risberg, former White Sox players, were expected to take the stand in their own defense today and Chick Gandil may also testify. Weaver and Feisch have been promised their freedom by the court also unless the state can show some stronger evidence against them. Louis and Ben Levi of Kokomo, Ind., were freed yesterday. David Zelcer of Des Moines, presented an alibi thru his own testimony, and the defense today was turning its attention to the freeing of Joe Jackson, Eddie Cicotte, Claude Williams, Chick Gandil and Swede Risberg, all former White Sox players.

With eight White Sox players speeding back to Chicago from Washington to testify, defense and many other witnesses summoned, the defense has announced that it does not expect to conclude its testimony before the middle of next week.

MAY HOLD SERIES.
President Ban Johnson of the American League was expected to decide today whether the rest of the Washington-Chicago series, and possibly the New York-Chicago series, should be postponed owing to the absence of Chicago players.

While "Kid" Gleason, the manager, is called away, as is also Trainer Stephenson, the summoning of ten eight men yet leaves the Sox with plenty of material to put up a stiff fight with any American League club in case Johnson decides to continue the schedule.

Three Wolverines, Pro Ball Players

ANN ARBOR, Mich. — Three members of this year's graduating class of the University of Michigan have laid aside the cup and gown for the spangles of professional baseball, two entering the American League and the third, the Central.

Vernon L. "Sticker" Parks, former university pitching mainstay who was barred from college baseball this season by a charge of professionalism, signed with the Detroit Tigers.

Jack Ferrin, an outfielder, joined the Boston Red Sox, and Peter Bowen, infielder, is at second base for Grand Rapids, his home.

Van Bowen captained the Wolverines this year, replacing Parks.

HIGH MONEY RATES STOP PROGRESS

Bankers Impose Heavy Burden On Business Concerns

PRE-WAR INTEREST WAS LOW

Is Necessary Institutions Reduce Scale, Says Forbes

(By B. C. FORBES.) NEW YORK.—(Special.) — By charging high rates for money, the banks are imposing a heavy burden upon business concerns, and failures are thereby increased. Failures usually entail losses upon banks. Hence it is poor business for banks to impose interest rates on their clients.

This simple truth needs to be drawn to the attention of many bankers today. Despite the reduction in rates made by Federal Reserve Banks, the banks who are members of the system have not lowered their charges to commercial borrowers in the same degree. When Federal Reserve banks recently cut their rates to 5-1-2 percent, some objection was raised on the ground that such a step should not have been taken until the rates charged by banks had declined considerably further. It was pointed out that the Bank of England's discount rate invariably is higher than the rates quoted in the open market, and that similar conditions should be brought into vogue here.

But does any sane person contend that the Federal Reserve board should not do anything to bring about comfortable money rates if the bankers persist in levying unreasonably high rental charges for credit granted their customers? The state of industry, trade and employment at present is such that no stone should be left unturned by the Federal Reserve board or by any other responsible organization or institution or individual to stimulate improvement. It is incomparably more important that business and labor be revived without further avoidable delay than that the banks should add to their profits by charging interest rates calculated to handicap the return of active times.

Bluntly, American bankers cannot be complimented on their record of the last few years, particularly their record following the armistice. They lent themselves short sightedly to the wild orgy of inflation and speculation of 1919 and the early part of 1920. They made loans which they had no business to make. True, when the bubble burst, many financial institutions, particularly those in the largest centers, threw themselves into the breach and unparalelled vigor and with no small degree of success. They worked and worried night and day over the salvaging of threatened industrial and commercial concerns. Never before have the banks undertaken such heavy loads, or it should be added, handled them with greater success.

One deplorable result has been that, having had their fingers burned by playing with speculative fire, many of the banks have since applied screws to all borrowers indiscriminately. It is more than time that common sense and discretion were exercised by the banks in granting credits so that everything possible may be done to quicken the revival of all legitimate business. The "Warning to the Bankers of America" published in this column a fortnight ago has been printed all over the country by publications, by commercial bodies, by corporations and by others. Telegrams and letters of endorsement have poured in. Senator Owen, "father" of the Federal Reserve system, remarked to me the other day: "You have succeeded in doing by one act what I have failed to do by two years of persistent effort. You have compelled the reserve board and also the bankers of the country to sit up and take notice."

The latest reduction in rates by the principal reserve banks followed the publication of your warning. Senator Owen added: "Your warning to the bankers of America was justified. They have been frightened and demoralized by the incredibly stupid and dangerous policies of the Federal Reserve board. After allowing inflation and speculation to run riot for so long, they have been forced to mark up their rates. In the spring of 1920 the heat began to rock. The stock market showed signs of demoralization. Rates ran up as high as fifty percent in some cases, to my knowledge, the reserve board urged bankers to discriminate against borrowers dealing in non-essentials, but the board refused to define what were and what were not non-essentials. The result was that I went to the governor of the Federal Reserve board and I urged him to warn the banks to withhold credit from speculative and those speculative unduly. But not to penalize those engaged in legitimate production and distribution. As you know, a system of progressive or penalizing rates was introduced which made it impossible for many institutions to draw freely upon the reserve system. The reserve board would not listen to me. I wrote letters to them and also took the matter on the floor of the Senate. But all without avail.

Relaxation of Money Rates Ignored By Traders

CHICAGO.—Bulls had an advantage in the wheat market today owing to continued smallness of rural offerings. Belief that export business of late had been greatly under estimated was also a strengthening factor. Assertions that recent advances were more rapid than statements would warrant, failed to make much impression. Opening prices which varied from 1-4 to 3-4 higher with Sept. 1-27 1-4 to 1-27 3-4 and Dec. 1-29 1-4 to 1-29 1-8; were followed by a slight reaction and then by material gains all around. Dry weather hoisted the corn market. After opening 1-4 cents to 5-8 up, including Sept. 5-8 to 6-2, prices scored a decided general gain. Oats were firmer with other cereals, starting 1-8 to 3-8 higher, Sept. 3-9 1-2 to 2-9 3-4 and then continuing to ascend. Higher quotation hogs gave strength to provisions. United Drug recovered almost four points of its early losses, but other specialties displayed increasing weakness. National Lead dropped almost nine points and losses extending from 4 to 10 points were sustained by Railway Steel Springs, Pressed Steel Car, United Fruit and California Packing. The prominent steels, oil and motors were irregular and textiles and chemical specialties also gave way to pressure. Rails were the only comparatively steady features. Trading was not in the least degree stimulated by the opening rate of 4-1-2 per cent for call money. Liquidation and professional pressure caused extreme declines of 2 to 12 points among vulnerable issues in today's stock market. Traders ignored further relaxation of money rates. Sales approximated 47,000 shares.

SUGAR MARKET

NEW YORK—	The raw sugar market was firm early today. Cuban advanced to 3-1-4 cents. Raw sugar futures were firmer on covering. Prices at midday were four to ten points net higher. No changes occurred in the refined sugar with prices ranging from 5-85 to 6-00 for fine granulated. Refined futures were nominal.

Quietude reigned in the local market Thursday, with nearly all produce steady. The market has been little changed this week. Crops need rain badly, but the supply has been sufficient to meet the demand and keep prices at the same level. A greater supply of New Trans-parencies has arrived on the local market and are selling at 8 and 10 cents a pound. Home grown spinach is now on the market. This is the type called summer spinach and does not dry up as soon as the other kind. It is selling at 25 cents a pound.

A supply of smaller lemons has arrived on the market and are selling at 50 cents a dozen. Other lemons prices per dozen are 60 and 80 cents.

Long Horn Cheese made a two cent advance on the local market Thursday and is now selling at 29 cents. No. 1 winter wheat increased in price, jumping from $1.15 to $1.20. An increase in the price of wheat was general throughout the country.

The Cleveland market was exceptionally quiet and steady Thursday, with only a slight increase in Jersey potatoes. They are quoted at $5 and $5.35 per barrel of 170 pounds. No changes were registered in garden products of melons.

NEW YORK.—A five point rally in United Drug, and an eight point decline in Pressed Steel Car on overnight announcement that dividend action on the latter had been deferred, featured the movement of active shares at the opening of today's stock market. The rally in United Drug was short lived, however, that stock soon reacting seven points. Other issues, particularly oils, equipments and rubber shares became unsettled at reactions of 1 to 2 points. Texas and Pacific was among the steady rails, and General Asphalt, Baldwin Locomotive and Retail Stores registered moderate gains. Corn prices closed weak at 1-4 to 3-8 net decline to 1-8 advance with Sept. 61 3-4 to 61 1-2. The wheat close was heavy, 1 to 1-3-4 net lower with Sept. 1-25 1-2 to 1-25 3-4 and Dec. 1-27 to 1-27 3-4.

GRAIN MOVING RAPIDLY DESPITE FREIGHT RATES

WASHINGTON.—Grain and grain products are moving in greater volume than at any time within the past three years "despite the increase in freight rates," said a statement today by the American Railway Association.

Between June 4 and July 16, the statement said, 297,881 cars were loaded with grain and grain products, or 67,402 more than during the corresponding period of 1920 and 70,403 more than in 1919.

TICKER TALKS

Grain news is chiefly concerning the weather and corn crop. The situation looks bad, with one half the crop reported dry and going backward. Corn news is bullish. The crop is on the verge of severe injury and heavy rains are needed to save it.

No marked changes were noted in the stock market. U. S. Steel Corporation made a good report for the second quarter of 1921, showing nearly $22,000,000 for the fixed charges, preferred dividends and liberal appreciation.
